Band History

1887 - St. Cloud's City Band first mentioned in the newspaper.

1889 - St. Cloud has a band now called the Union Band. L. J. Romdenne is the band leader and Martin Molitor is the manager. The January 3rd paper notes that St. Cloud has one of the very best silver cornet bands in the state.

1891 - St. Cloud pays $600 per year to support the Union Band.

1903 - The May 26th paper announces the St. Cloud City Band and Granite City Band will combine under the name St. Cloud City Band. Arthur J. Hollensworth is elected director and Joseph Wegler assistant director and manager. The city pledges $400 support from it's contingent fund.

Did You Know... Band History

- 1904 - The St. Cloud "Granite City Band" is directed by Hubert Gans, performing in park concerts as well as area county fairs.
- 1915 - The band changes it's name from "Granite City Band" to "Granite City Military Band." The name change reflects a change in style and code of conduct rather than to any military affiliation.
- 1923 - Mr. G. Oliver Riggs is invited to St. Cloud to form a boys band. Starting with 100 members, the band grows to 233 members by 1927 and is billed as the largest band in the world. They earn the title "National Junior Chamber of Commerce Band" at a 1933 convention in Des Moines, IA and take first place at the American Legion convention in Duluth a year later.

Did You Know... Band History

1926 - The city of St. Cloud is unable to keep it's financial commitment to the city band, so the American Legion sponsors the band for the next ten years.

1936 - G. Oliver Riggs forms an adult band from his Boys' Band "graduates." When Riggs leaves, Erwin Herz, band director at St. Cloud Tech leads the group through it's 1946 summer concert season.

1947 - During the administration of Mayor Math Malisheski, today's St. Cloud Municipal Band comes into existence. Supported by the city, a budget was established, uniforms purchased, rehearsal facilities arranged and Eugene Neri is hired as full-time director.

Band History

1950's - The band transforms itself from a marching band to a concert band - performing classical works, Broadway scores, American folk music, popular numbers, novelty songs and singalongs. The band plays at the State Reformatory in the winter, Opens a Rox baseball game in the summer of 1954, and plays summer concerts at all of the cities' parks.

1983 - Richard Hansen, a member of the SCSU music department, becomes director and starts annual Sousa concerts. Held at SCSU, Rick dresses up as Sousa himself to direct the concerts.

1999 - The St. Cloud Municipal Band travels to Beijing, China to represent the City of St. Cloud, Minnesota, and the United States in celebration of the 50th anniversary of the normalization of relations between China and the United States.
