THE ST. CLOUD MUNICIPAL BAND

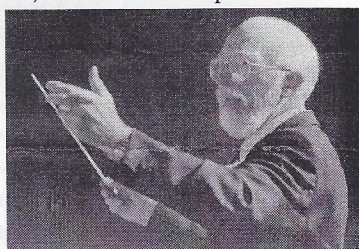

The existence of the band was reported in local newspapers as early as 1887 and its character has changed throughout its approximately 120 years of existence. In the late 1880's the band performed while riding bicycles and at one time (1927) the band of 233 members was called one of the largest bands in the world. For some time it included a beginners band, a boys band, and an adult band. The band has existed in its present form for over 60 years. It currently provides musical programming, entertainment and recreation to the citizens of St. Cloud and the surrounding area by presenting a series of outdoor concerts in local parks as well as performing at area special events throughout the year.

The Conductor

The interim conductor, Mel Hauck, is a retired music educator and part-time professional musician. Before retiring in 1994, he conducted public school bands for 34 years. Mr. Hauck has also been involved with the St. Cloud Municipal Band, both as a tuba player and substitute conductor, since 1970.

Music For Life

Bobby McFerrin may have said it best when at the World Science Festival he stated, "Music making transforms the experience of being alive." The act of making music has been shown to stimulate more areas of the brain simultaneously than any other singular activity. Music making may be helpful in organizing the conscious mind to enable it to perform in ways helpful to an individual in our society. For years, music researchers have concluded that the study of music makes you smarter. This is supported by the fact that the foremost technical designers and engineers in Silicon Valley are almost all practicing musicians. The music need not stop when the high school and collegiate years come to an end; rather it is just the beginning for a new world of musical and social growth. The Campus Band and St. Cloud Municipal Band are prime examples of music making for the pure joy of it. Let the music ring!
