Northeast Community Band (Minneapolis)

Director: Tim Martin

Started by director Tim Martin nearly 20 years ago, the Northeast Community Band brings together amateur musicians of all ages and abilities, for fun and to promote musical education. We gather Thursday nights during the school year, adults and teens, to play marches, show tunes and other classic selections for concert wind band. We practice Thursdays from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. at Edison High School in Minneapolis and perform several free concerts from September through June. For more information, email necbinfo@gmail.com or visit us on our website at northeastcommunityband.com. You can also find us on Facebook!

Seward Concert Band (Minneapolis)

Director: David Sanderson

The Seward Concert Band was founded in 1977 and is currently celebrating its 40th anniversary season! Consisting of brass, woodwinds, and percussion, the band was formed to provide amateur musicians the opportunity to perform and improve their musical skills. In 1996, the band became a non-profit organization with the further mission to provide for the education and growth of its members and audiences through the public performance of concert band music. Continuing financial support relies on its members' dues, community support, and ticket receipts. Our season runs from September through June, with Thursday night rehearsals at Washburn High School. Please visit sewardconcertband.org for schedules and information.

Century College Concert Band (White Bear Lake)

Director: Charles Preis

The Century College Concert Band is unique in that it is both the college band and a community band. The college band was originally founded by John Zdechlik at Lakewood Community College. In 1985, participation in the band was opened to the community. Six of our current members were in that first concert in 1985. The college was later transformed into Century College. After Dr. Zdechlik's retirement, the baton was handed off to Charlie Preis who moved from the euphonium section to the podium. This is his 20th year as director of this amazing ensemble. The band's Spring concert will be at 7:00 p.m., Sunday, May 7, 2017. For more information about the Century College Concert Band, go to our website at centuryband.homestead.com.
